Welcome to the Daytona Munch Newsletter

Welcome to the July issue of the NEW Daytona Munch Newsletter. Our goal is to use this newsletter to let you know what is going on at this munch, as well as listing other local events and other munches.

This has been a hot and sticky month. We have included some links for some kinky shirts we have found.

Special thanks to stormy and her Sir for donating the door prize for the June munch.

28 DAYS by Colleen

28 DAYS
by Colleen

a witty line. i've never been at a loss for words.

28 days until i am with Her. In the flesh. Face to face.

Now i fear that i will be.

i will know the softness of Her skin.

Will she see me as a nice girl to hang out with, and nothing more?

i will know what She smells like.

i want to be everything She's hoped for,
everything She's dreamed of.

How it feels to have my hand in Hers.

It scares me to death that
i'm not enough.

What it's like to look up into Her eyes.

28 nights of sleep before i will stand beside Her.

Four weeks from today.

i'm scared to death.

Will She even recognize me when i walk toward her through the thongs of
arriving passengers?

i could have said no. Could have said i can't get the time off, can't spare
the money for a plane ticket.

What will be the first thing i say to Her?

i didn't say those things.

Because i want this.

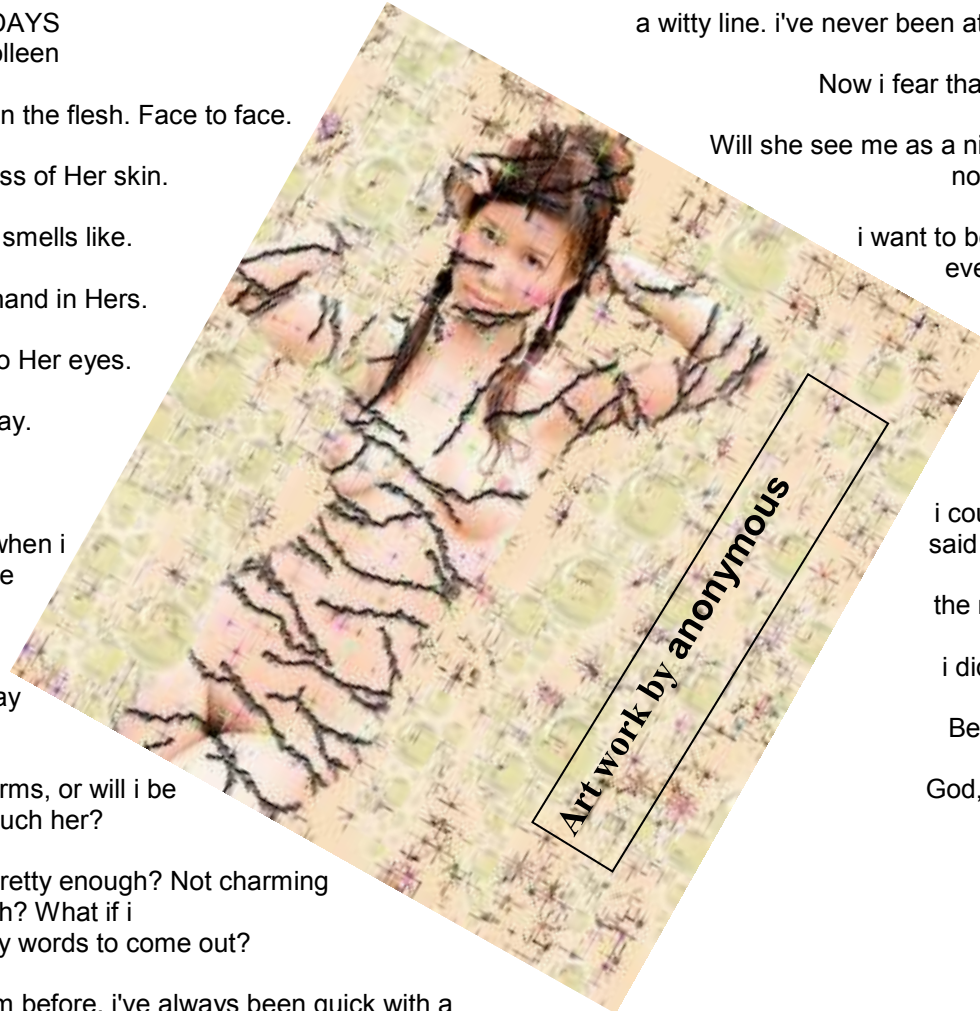

Will i throw myself into Her arms, or will i be too shy to even touch her?

God, how i want this.

What if i'm too dorky? Not pretty enough? Not charming enough? What if i can't get any words to come out?

28 days.

That's never been a problem before. i've always been quick with a comeback,

This is Not a Love Poem- by Colleen

This is not a love poem-
it is the birth of a star.
At once brilliant and purple,
full of radiant dust
exploding into the golden particles of my Universe ...

becoming
raindrop drizzling off Forestpalms
running down the backbone of earth and clay twisting through vines of sweaty gasps and wetness
until, embedded in each layer of my heart,
You explode in me, again ...

leaving my soul
becoming the spinning harmonies of the universe ...
the Music of dance and laughter

the Song of the Sea ... of each wild, Ancient tide ...

of Artemis

who, hearing your sweet song, was drawn deeper
into her own forest
into places she had not traveled, not dared

and now, these particles swirl in a black current-scented honeyed tea
sipped with laughter
forest greens lighting on indigo with impossible
tenderness

murmuring ... One ...

You know you are kinky when - submitted by 'lil o

... You hear about a Bridal Fashion Show to be held in your town, and you think, "Cool! I've always wanted to see what pony gear looks like ON someone!"

... Your entire Music collection consists of music you can Scene to.

... You give a new song a rating of 65....it's got a good beat and you can squirm to it.

... You start to salivate and get aroused as you pass the local candle factory.

... You always smell like Yankee Candle's Scent-Of-The-Month.

... Canning season gets you really excited.

... You see a sign in front of a house that reads, Chairs Caned, and you think to yourself, "Gee, some people are BLATANT about being out. YKIOKIJNMK"

... You see a sign in front of a house that reads, Chairs Caned, and you stop to see if the poor Dom/me needs a PERSON to cane.

... Citibank calls you because someone used your credit card to make a huge purchase at a tack shop in another state, and they know that you live in a metropolitan area and don't own a horse.

... You make your vacation destination decisions based on that area's Assault and Battery, Consent, and Sexual Deviance laws.

... Your Avon Representative politely informs you that the company has no plans to make that Eau de Leather scent you have been pestering them about.

... Your idea of Fantasy Island looks far more like "Exit to Eden" than anything they showed on TV.

... They know you by name, size, and favorite colors at four local leather shops.

... You need an 18-wheeler to haul all your toys to a party.

... Your son's Boy Scout Troop thinks you are way cool because you helped them earn their merit badge for knot tying.

New Group In The State

LIK (Lesbians-in-Kink) is a private membership group for self-identified lesbians. We are based in Jacksonville, FL, but our members are from all over the state plus adjoining states.

A LIK Forum <http://likfla.proboards85.com/index.cgi> is set-up to encourage friendships among members, offer education and advice (when requested), serve as a source of contacts, and to announce dates of upcoming LIK munch/demos.

Munches/Demos are scheduled as suits the membership.

If a woman is a self-identified lesbian and is active in kink or curious about the spectrum of kink and would like to be considered for LIK membership, all she needs to do is send an email to Ann (lik.her.fl@gmail.com) or Stormy (stormyknight2011@aol.com). Those interested in LIK membership must be at least 18 years of age. Membership criteria will be sent upon request. If a woman knows a member of LIK, providing her name and email address will quicken the membership Approval process. Thank you for your interest in our group and your offer to cross post.

"Silent Alarm" by "lil o

Filmed and already under production, a new BDSM film that boasts that it goes on where "The Secretary" left off, this film is due to be shown in Florida sometime this summer.

The site, <http://silentalarm.web.aplus.net/> contains pictures, story, actor biographies, etc. Click on "Breathe Here" to enter.

It would appear to me to be about Female Domination/male submissives, but it is my understanding that the film contains more than that alone. "Sometimes reality and fantasy collide" is one of their advertised truisms. Surely any movie that depicts a sadistic clown can't be all bad?
